America's Most Popular Football Party Foods for 2019

JustAPinch.com Analyzed Millions of Cloud-Based Recipe Boxes to Find Most Popular Football Party Food Recipes During the 2019 Football Playoffs

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 8, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Heading into the heart of the 2019 football playoffs, JustAPinch.com researched the football party foods (dips, appetizers, finger foods, etc.) most popular with America's home cooks.

JustAPinch.com used a proprietary algorithm and data from millions of cloud-based recipe boxes to find the most saved, viewed, shared, rated, and cooked football party food recipes from America's home cooks. You'll find plenty of cheesy, bacon-y foods on the list, but there are some interesting trends emerging as well, including creative and/or healthy spins on traditional foods like baked chicken wings, BLT pasta salad, veggie cream cheese roll-ups, and jalapeño popper wontons.

Internet search traffic for recipes only highlights viewing trends, but when millions of home cooks directly engage with and ultimately save a recipe in their own personal recipe box, it demonstrates a purposeful intent to cook. This gives real insight into the recipes that are being viewed, shopped for and actually cooked in these home kitchens, and these recipes are representative of the type of football party foods being cooked across the country.
